

- 1) The students from the Electrical Department have contributed to vehicle wiring systems, such as integrating switches for brake lights, kill switches. Additionally, they have collaborated with Mechanical Engineering teams to design fixtures and aid in manufacturing processes. Their involvement extends to enhancing vehicle reliability through innovative wiring solutions and ensuring seamless integration of electrical components with mechanical systems, thereby bolstering overall performance and safety standards in automotive projects.

